BERKELEY SWEPT BY DEVASTATING FLAMES

Home of Stanford Suffers Greatest Conflagration Since Frisco's

Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Pessimist Has No Place In Glendale. Excelsior Still Our Motto

THE pessimist is still abroad in Glendale, as well as elsewhere. There may be reason for his existence in other cities, but not here.

It seems to be a difficult thing for the old-timer to forget that California has had a reaction in real estate values every once in a while.

These individuals start out with the statement that they remember the time when real estate was a drug on the market and would not sell at any price.

* * *

WE believe in being conservative but one cannot compare the California of today with the California of the past.

California, and especially the southern part, is no longer an exclusive tourist state, as it used to be, with business booming during the season and dead the balance of the year. It has been the one state in the Union that experienced no setback after the war and it became noted as the "white spot" of the nation. In the olden days, and not very far back, a factory was somewhat of a curiosity in the Southland. Today, so many factories are being located in the Los Angeles vicinity as to make it necessary to extend the commercial boundaries to take care of them. The eastern manufacturers are beginning to realize that California has more to offer them than they have had elsewhere.

* * *

PEOPLE who live in the east are not thinking now of spending the winter in California. They are instead arranging their affairs so they can locate here permanently. What any other section of California has can be matched by us in Glendale and more too. If there should be a slowing up in California our city will be the very last to feel the effects of it.

* * *

ONE need not worry over our real estate values yet for they are still under priced. Anyone who doubts this statement can easily verify its truth by checking them with those of other localities of like size and environment.

* * *

WE admit that there are many vacant building lots here and we are glad of it. The asking price in comparison with lots in Hollywood or, in fact, any city or suburb of Los Angeles located as near as we are, is lower. This, in itself, will bring additional inhabitants. One party remarked this morning that there were enough vacant lots to take care of a city of 100,000 people.

* * *

THIS is as it should be for it will be only a few years until we will have that many. Instead of the fact that we can accommodate the home-seeker being used to depreciate values it shoud be a big talking point in our favor.

We noticed in a Santa Ana dispatch that they were bragging over having had so far this year four million dollars in permits. Our total is now over seven millions, nearly twice that of Santa Ana.

* * *

THIS certainly makes a good point for argument, for we find that in 1913 their population was close to 12,000, while ours was about three thousand. We can now boast of 42,000 and they claim 25,000.

So we say to the pessimist, "Forget what used to be, and boost what is today."

LATE SPORTS

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Jess Sweetser of New York, defending champion, today won his first round match in the national amateur golf championship by defeating Albert Seckel of Chicago, formerly champion, 10 and 9.

BERKELEY, Sept. 18. — Miss Helen Wills, women's national tennis champion, was a victim of the fire that swept a part of the residence district of Berkeley yesterday. She was treated at the emergency hospital for blistered feet and a cinder in her eye.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. — Chick Evans of Chicago, was one down to Willie Hunter of Los Angeles at the end of the morning round, having dropped the 17th with 3 putts to become down, but winning the 18th where Hunter did the like.

At the end of the first half George Von Elm, Salt Lake, was six up to E. F. Carter of Chicago.

RELIEF FUNDS SENT IN BUT DRIVE STILL ON

In response to a special request from the Pacific Division of the Red Cross, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale chapter, on Tuesday sent a check for all collections to date for the Japanese relief fund, in the sum of $2546.82. This does not mean that the drive will end. It will continue until Glendale's quota is subscribed, and all additional subscriptions should be sent to Mrs. Bartlett.

The need is urgent and she has asked the Press to bring it to the attention of its subscribers and to urge them to get their subscriptions to her as soon as possible.

ELKS' DELEGATION IS OFF TO EUREKA THIS AFTERNOON

Band's Full Quota, 35, Goes, Also Many Other Delegates

At the meeting of the Glendale Elks' lodge Monday night interest centered in the departure today of the lodge band and other delegates to the state convention to be held at Eureka. The start is being made this afternoon from the club house at 2 o'clock. The band, all spick and span in new uniforms, will march to Brand and north for a few blocks, then south to the Southern Pacific station, where they will entrain at 3:20.

The lodge was fortunate enough to secure two Pullman coaches for the party with 27 berths in each sleeper. All were sold. The lodge is entitled to 32 delegates and besides these a good many members are attending. There will be four ladies in the party and the band numbers 35, though four are not members of this lodge. The party will return next Monday from the convention and the lodge meeting that night is expected to be of unusual interest.

Because of the participation of the lodge in the state convention, its annual picnic has been postponed to a later date than usual, October 14. It will probably be held in Happiland park, though that is to be finally determined next Monday.

Plans are also being made for the 11th anniversary of the date on which the Glendale lodge received its charter. A reception is to be given to the old Fillmore members.

WHISKERINOES TO INVADE OAKLAND

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—Two hundred and fifty Whiskerinoes in costume, accompanied by an equal number of women and girls of the capital city in the quaint gowns and dresses of the pioneer days plan to invade Oakland on September 27 to participate in the Dons of Peralta celebration in that city. Directors of the Sacramento chamber of commerce have voted the sum of $250 to help defray the expenses of the women attending.

On arriving in Oakland about 10:30 o'clock in the morning, the Whiskerinoes and Whiskerettes will form in line and parade thru the principal streets. Special stunts will be staged by this famous organization, which put over "The Days of '49" here last year and achieved world fame.

POLICE BRIEFS

A quantity of automobile tools were stolen from a car belonging to Mr. Hess of 604 North Glendale avenue, as the machine was standing before the Hess home between 8 and 10 o'clock last night. None of the missing articles have been located.

A small fire occurred in the Glendale sanitarium hospital, corner Jackson and Wilson at about 2:10 o'clock this morning. The engine of Fire Department No. 1 responded to the call and the conflagration was quickly extinguished.

George H. Linton, address unknown, who was recently arrested by Glendale traffic officers for reckless driving, was arraigned before Judge Lowe Monday morning and his bail was fixed at $300 cash or $600 property bond. His preliminary hearing was set for September 27 at 4 p. m.

HIGH ENROLLMENT MONDAY WAS JUST 1684

This Is 146 More Than at End of First Month Last Year

When the enrollment for the week at Glendale High was totaled Friday afternoon it was found to be 1652. Monday morning 32 new students were added to the roster, bringing it to 1684. Last year at the end of the first month it was 1538. Students will be enrolling for the next three weeks, Principal Moyse declares, and at the rate at which they presented themselvs this morning they will soon bring the list to 1800.

It is not considered likely that the percentage of increase will be as heavy as last year because of the cutting off of the greater portion of Eagle Rock. Only those students who can more conveniently attend Glendale High will be permitted to do so, others being sent to Franklin High.

As prophesied after the first day it has been necessary to add to the faculty an instructor to take some of the classes in history and civics. John Kienle, who has been teaching in Colton for the past four years and who succeeded in securing a release there, has been elected. As he is working for a doctor's degree, he is anxious to get near Los Angeles.

This addition to the staff, it is hoped, will be the last until the school has opportunity to expand in its new quarters, as it is hard to find room for all the classes.

MANY MILLIONS HIDDEN AWAY IN FRANCE NOW

PARIS, Sept. 18.—All over France, men and women for years have been hoarding American currency. It became available in large quantities with the coming of American soldiers during the war, and the French were quick to see its value. Today people are wondering how many dollars are concealed in the "woolen socks" of the republic.

The estimates run from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. Recently a Frenchman living in Chaumont, who kept a candy store during the war, disclosed to a friend a strong-box containing over $12,500 in American bills of various denominations, which he said he would sell when the franc reached 20 for one dollar. "There are a good many men in this town alone who have more than I," this man declared.

The exact amount of American currency left in France by American soldiers and officers will probably never be known but many believe that if a thorough canvas of Brest, Saint Nazaire, Bordeaux, Le Mans, Tours, Chaumont, Aix-les-Bains, Vichy, Dinard and the surrounding localities were made, the total would be nearly $5,000,000.

St. Louis Clinic Draws From Many States

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—The St. Louis Medical Society, in a report of its free clinic for poor children this year, stated that slight to complete correction was accomplished in 94 or 97 cases already disposed of, only three children being declared beyond assistance.

The clinic which the society conducts each year, beginning in April, is said to be the only one of its kind in the United States, for free hospital, medical and surgical care is provided. During the present year children from states throughout the west and south are being treated.

More than a score of children, still under treatment, will remain at hospitals for several months, and a few for more than a year. Half a hundred other children still are receiving treatment at clinics.

In some cases as many as four operations had to be performed to effect a cure.

I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE MEETS IN JACKSONVILLE, FLA., 1924

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Jacksonville, Fla., was selected today as the meeting place next year of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., and affiliated organizations.

BEAUTIFUL BERKELEY HOME OF OLD STANFORD DESOLATED BY FLAMES

More Than 600 Buildings in Prosperous and Thickly Settled Cragmont, Euclid Avenue and La Loma Park Districts of North Berkeley Laid Waste

FORTY-FIVE SQUARE BLOCKS DEVASTATED

Problem of Reconstructing Burned Sections Faced Bravely and Already Plans Have Been Laid for a Phoenix-like Rise From the Ashes

[By Associated Press]

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 18.—Berkeley today faced the greatest task of reconstruction in the city's history.

Fire, sweeping through the prosperous and thickly settled Cragmont, Euclid avenue and La Loma Park districts of North Berkeley yesterday, laid waste to more than 35 city blocks, destroyed at least 600 buildings, including the homes of many wealthy and prominent citizens, caused property damage estimated at $10,000,000 and left approximately 2400 persons homeless.

Today only a forest of stark, flame-charred chimneys, great masses of smouldering debris and piles of furniture and personal belongings scattered in helter-skelter confusion, remained of what was yesterday morning a peaceful suburban district.

A search for bodies among the charred ruins of the Cragmont section of Berkeley, laid waste by yesterday's disastrous fire, is being conducted today, so far without result.

Acting Chief of Police Clarence Lee has issued notice that all looters will be shot and it was announced that no one will be allowed in the burned area unaccompanied by a police officer.

Berkeley and the rest of the east bay district were obscured by a heavy pall of smoke which converted the sun into a glowing red ball at dawn today. More than 2500 homeless persons are facing the task of reconstruction. The latest estimates place the monetary loss at between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000.

More than 600 houses have been destroyed and upwards of 40 persons were injured. There are unconfirmed reports of others killed. Stanford university was saved from destruction by a shift of the wind when the flames were very near.

The Berkeley fire department, still augmented by portions of the Oakland department and hundreds of volunteers worked throughout the night to keep the flames beaten back into the burned area. They continued their work long today, as did the National Guardsmen, members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps of the university and Berkeley and Oakland policemen and citizens sworn in for emergency duty to guard the ruins.

Forty-five square blocks of Berkeley's most beautiful homes from the university campus up the hill slopes, north and east, have been devastated by the fire which is said to be the worst experienced by any California city since the San Francisco disaster of 1906.

The problem of housing the homeless families and occupants of fraternity, sorority and apartment houses is now occupying the attention of civic authorities, the Red Cross and other organizations.

The conflagration began from a small brush fire of undetermined origin, early yesterday on the northeastern slope of the high ridge which lies on the northern edge of the city. At noon an ominous cloud of smoke blanketed the city and blackened embers of burning eucalyptus trees fell in the heart of Berkeley's business district.

At 2 o'clock the flames roared over the crest of the ridge, driven by a high wind, and swept into the residential district.

Spreading in three directions, the fire leaped from home to home, sparks carried by the wind enkindling trees, roofs and bushes. With in a few hours the flames had spread ten blocks to the southeast and were stubbornly defying the efforts of hundreds of frantic householders, police and fire departments from Berkeley and adjacent cities, and volunteers, who fought vainly to extinguish them.

Dynamite, with which the firefighters ripped away a fire-break on the northeast, served to check the spread of the conflagration in that direction, but it was not until the wind subsided into a gentle breeze shortly after 7 o'clock that the rapid advance of the fire was checked and the danger of further destruction averted.

The irresponsible spirit of youth alone could not be conquered by the devastating conflagration which swept one of the richest residential districts of Berkeley, home of the University of California, yesterday.

Tragedy stalked through the forest of chimneys and smouldering ashes—all that remained of elaborate homes destroyed by the flames late yesterday—but the occupants of many of them, students at the university who were members of fraternities which lost everything in the catastrophe, made merry throughout the night, despite the blow.

In a bower formed by smoke-blackened shrubbery on the fringe of the gigantic amphitheater of reddened piles of ruins, a small group of students ate sandwiches and chatted to the tune of a phonograph record until long after midnight. A small collection of their sorority sisters surveyed the edibles and dispelled the cheerlessness of the scene with their songs.

Beside the gaunt, brick needles which pointed to the sky—chimneys of hearths laid waste by flames, many objects were discernible. The metal mechanism of musical instruments lay blackened and charred beside bedsteads, bathtubs and twisted strands that once were pipes.

Here and there along the well paved streets stood a twisted and burned mass of metal that had been an automobile.

A deathly silence hung over the devastated zone last night, a silence as expressive as it was in sharp contrast to the roar and crackle of the flames which caused it.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 18.—Berkeley today faced the greatest task of reconstruction in the city's history.

Fire, sweeping through the prosperous and thickly settled Cragmont, Euclid avenue and La Loma Park districts of North Berkeley yestreday, laid waste to more than 35 city blocks, destroyed at least 600 buildings, including the homes of many wealthy and prominent citizens, caused property damage estimated at $10,000,000 and left approximately 2400 persons homeless.

[By Associated Press]

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 18.—A tabulation at 10:45 o'clock this morning lists 25 persons injured as a result of yesterday's fire, few seriously, and 26 missing. Many of the latter are children and are believed merely to have become separated from the families.

Reports of persons burned to death or killed in the collapse of buildings persist but there is no confirmation.

FIVE THOUSAND MORE LOST IN YOKOHAMA

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 18.—Temporary barracks here were flooded during a terrific storm Saturday and five thousand are missing.

ENROLLMENT IN CITY'S SCHOOLS REACHES 4337

This Is Increase of 24 Percent Over First Day Last Year

Enrollment in the elementary schools of the city Monday morning and afternoon totalled 4337, showing an increase of 24 per cent, the enrollment the first day last year having been 3476.

An interesting fact in connection with the figures is the preponderance of boys in most classes, although in two of the schools the reports failed to segregate pupils according to sex.

By schools, the enrollment ran as follows:

Cerritos avenue, Mrs. Annie Curtis, principal—Total enrollment, 162, divided according to grades as follows: Boys, 79; girls, 60; kindergarten boys, 10; girls, 13.

Magnolia school, Miss Emma Saxton, principal—Total enrollment, 105, divided as follows: Boys in grades, 47; girls, 40; kindergarten goys, 12; girls, 6.

Glendale avenue intermediate, Norman Whytock, principal—Total enrollment, 370, by grades as follows: 7th grade, 82 boys and 86 girls; 8th grade, 98 boys and 104 girls, or a total of 180 boys and 190 girls.

Grand View school, Miss Vera Sinclair, principal—Total enrollment, 277, divided as follows: Boys in grades, 129; girls in grades, 116; boys in kindergarten, 19; girls, 13.

Doran street school, Miss Lois Hatch, principal—Total enrollment, 273, divided as follows: Boys in grades, 123; girls, 117; in kindergarten, boys, 16; girls, 17.

Pacific avenue school, Mrs. Fannie Stone, principal—Total enrollment, 502, not segregated in report.

Broadway school, Mrs. M. O. Ryan, principal—Total enrollment, 450, divided as follows: Boys in grades, 204; girls, 210; kindergarten, boys, 20; girls, 16.

Columbus avenue school, Miss Lorraine Mitchell, principal—Total enrollment, 496, divided as follows: Boys in grades, 285; girls, 260; kindergarten, boys, 26; girls, 35.

Colorado street school, Miss Ida Waite, principal—Total enrollment, 249, divided as follows: Boys, 127; girls, 122.

Central avenue school, Miss Annie McIntyre, principal—Total enrollment, 347, divided as follows: Boys in grades, 166; girls, 145; kindergarten, boys, 19; girls, 17.

Wilson avenue school, Miss Carrie Noble, principal—Total enrollment, 551, divided as follows: Boys, 296; girls, 255.

Acacia avenue school, Miss May Cornwell, principal—Total enrollment, 455, not segregated according to sex in report.

ATHLETIC FIELD LOCATION AT HI IS CONSIDERED

One of the matters before the school authorities of Glendale high is the location of the athletic field and its grading. Architect Austin represents there will be less dirt to move and grading will therefore be less expensive if it runs from east to west. Principal Moyse argues, however, that since most of the games are played in the afternon, the players would have the disadvantage of the sun in their eyes. For that reason it will probably extend the other way towards the Colorado frontage and School street, the inter-school thoroughfare that marks the inside boundaries of the campus.

The plans for the athletic field incide a straight-away course of 260 feet. It is not expected that the field will be ready before next spring.

SCIENTIFIC DATA LOST IN FIRE

[By Associated Press]

BERKELEY, Sept. 18.—Invaluable scientific matter was lost by members of the University of California faculty in the fire which spread over northeastern Berkeley yesterday, but equally priceless art treasurers were saved from the home of Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the university. A squad of football players was credited with saving the wheeler treasures.

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Fair tonight and Wednesday; light westerly winds.

MONDAY AS A SHOPPING DAY GOING OVER BIG

A local merchant who advertised in the "Monday Shoping Section" in Saturday-s Press, was almost scared to death at the crowd that forced its way between his swinging doors on Monday. Said this merchant:

"I judge by results, and the returns I received from Saturday's Glendale Press advertising were truly astonishing. The pulling power of the Press has been proven so far as I am concerned. Those notices certainly turned the trick."

Merchants about town are greatly in favor of the "Monday shopping day" idea, inaugurated by the Press. They report better Monday sales than ever before.

Monday buying has become a habit.

TEN MILLIONS IN PERMITS IN 1923 'VAN' PREDICTS

Glendale Still Far Ahead of All Other Cities of Her Class

Twenty-five thousand, six hundred and sixty dollars in building permits were added to the September total during the last 24 hours in Glendale, this bringing the valuation of the permits issued during the month up to $372,657.

The permits issued during 1923 thus far have a valuation of $7,028,321.

"It's ten million sure this year," said "Van," building superintendent, this morning. "At the beginning of the year I did not really believe it was possible to reach this figure, but as the months go by it looks more and more as though Glendale will go over the top."

The permits issued up to noon today were as follows:

F. B. Reichenbach, 431 West Los Feliz, factory	$3,000
Daniel A. Hall, 1119 Linden, 5 rooms and garage	3,000
Mr. Morgan, 1280 Boynton, repairs, D. C. Kramer, contractor	300
Krist Rimmer, 251 Zerr, 5 rooms and garage	3,500
Max L. Green, 420 East Colorado, garage, Elmer Elliott, contractor	11,660
M. W. Lee, 1217 East Maple, 5 rooms and garage	3,500
Mrs. J. J. Carpi, 411 West Park, garage	400

Street Crossing Motor Law Violations Are Closely Watched

Special attention is being paid at this time by the officers of the Glendale police department to the arrest of motorists who violate traffic laws at street intersections, thereby endangering the lives and property of other motorists, according to a statement issued by Chief of Police Fraser this morning.

"The men of this department are always on the lookout for any infraction of any law," said Chief Fraser. Up to a short time ago the traffic officers of the city gave most of their time to arresting speeders. Now that the traps have been done away with these men naturally have more time to give to other work. They are stationed as a rule at prominent intersections and are giving much of their time to arresting motorists who fail to signal when about to turn, who cut the button, who try to hog the road or in any other way violate the vehicle act. We are determined to keep Glendale safe for the general public, and the only way we can do this is to arrest those who break the law."

During the past few days a large number of arrests have been made for the violation of traffic laws at intersections, according to Judge Lowe, and many of these will come up for hearing next Friday morning.

ANNUAL AUDIT OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE

E. R. Haines of San Francisco is making his annual audit of the books of all justices of the peace in Los Angeles county for the benefit of the grand jury. Tuesday he was going over the books of Judge Harry W. Chase of this city for the year ending July 1, 1923. He will also audit the books of Constable John L. Scales of this city.

NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN FOR PURE MILK ON

First Steps Already Taken by Two National Associations

First steps in a nation-wide pure milk campaign have been taken by joint action of two national associations of government health officials and a leading voluntary organization working in the special field of child health. At the annual convention of the association of American dairy, food and drug officials, held recently in Duluth, this body voted to join with the Conference of State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America and the American Child Health association, which, under the leadership of Herbert Hoover, is centering its activities on the improvement of standards of health care for children throughout the country, in measures to insure adequate methods in the handling and safeguarding of the nation's milk supply. The conference of State and Provincial Health Authorities includes chiefs of state health departments of the United States and provincial health departments of Canada.

This undertaking is in line with the increasing emphasis on nutrition as one of the chief bases of a sound national health, giving recognition at the same time to the primary importance of milk among the food resources of the country, especially for conserving the nation's babyhood. The discussion of methods of food control at the Duluth convention was led by Dr. S. J. Crumbine, associate director of medical service of the American Child Health association, who, as the first state health officer of Kansas, was the author of some fundamental innovations in legislative safeguarding of food and health conditions which have since been incorporated in the health and sanitary regulations of other states.

The resolution inaugurating this concerted movement to make milk safe for babies in America reads as follows:

"Whereas, the association of American Dairy, Food and Drug officials recognize the importance of milk and milk products in the national diet, especially as a food for infants and children, and,

"Whereas, we recognize the necessity for great care in the production and distribution of milk and milk products to the end that they may be safe and wholesome;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that this association join with the Conference of State and Provinicial Health authorities and the American Child Health association in a nation-wide movement to secure for every baby, child, and adult in America a clean and safe milk supply."

CREDIT MEN HAVE INTERESTING MEETING

Discuss Parking and Draft Recommendations to Council on Same

The Glendale Credit and Professional Men's association was entertained yesterday at the Egyptian Village cafe, where a most appetizing luncheon was served to about 50 members. This was the first meeting of the association at this popular cafe, the creation of that prince of good fellows, Robert Jensen, and the members had an opportunity to inspect one of the most unique cafes in Southern California. The service was the best, and was thoroughly enjoyed.

M. C. Butler, manager of the Lewis Jewelry company, and chairman of the committee appointed to report on the parking situation in Glendale, made a concise report, which, he said, offered a solution, to a great extent, to one of the problems which has been vexing the business men of the city.

"We tried to be perfectly fair," said Mr. Butler, "and we feel if our recommendations were carried out we would get much relief from the congested conditions in the business district."

The committee recommended one hour parking between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m., and cars would not be tagged before 10 a. m. or later than 5 p. m. The report recommended that cars be allowed to stop in the second line of travel provided a driver was left in the car. The above provisions would govern all cars in the districts between Central and Louise on Broadway and Wilson and Harvard on Brand.

Considerable discussion was had upon the report, several contending that autoists should be allowed to stop in front of stores and leave their cars for a few minutes regardless of leaving the car in charge of a driver. Wm. Hunter took issue with this line of reasoning and said that the time had arrived when Glendale must adopt the same laws as are used in the larger cities in this respect. Chief of police Fraser was present and concurred strongly with the opinion of Mr. Hunter. Chief Fraser said if cars were allowed to stop in the congested district that there would be a double line on both sides of the street and traffic would be at a standstill the greater part of the time. Several members favored extending the parking zone on Brand to Colorado, and Chief Fraser stated that an ordinance is now before the city council, framed along the same lines as the report, except that the zone has been extended to Colorado, and stopping along the streets is not allowed except to discharge passengers. Chief Fraser stated that double parking is impossible any place where there is a street car line, and very unsafe to all concerned.

The association accepted the report of the committee and it will be referred to the city council.

H. M. Parker, of Parker & Black, was reported seriously ill with pneumonia, and Dr. J: P. Luccock, another member of the association, was reported sick.

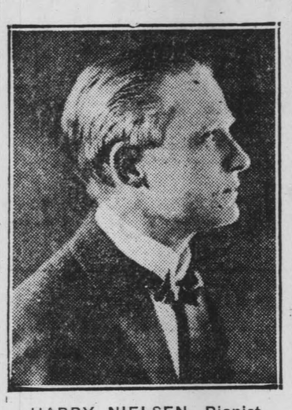
CANTOR CONCERT GREAT EVENT IN MUSIC HISTORY



HARRY NIELSEN, Pianist

One of the biggest events in the history of music in Glendale will be the concert sponsored by the Tuesday Afternoon club for Henry Cantor, the renowned tenor who is soon to go forth into the concert and operatic field. Mr. Cantor is a singer of wide experience and reputation, envied by fellow artists, and Glendale is proud to claim him as her own.

He will be assisted by Harry Nielsen, a real pianist and versatile artist. Mr. Nielsen, like Mr. Cantor, is a Prindell artist and will accompany Mr. Cantor on all his concert tours.

Also assisting on the program will be the famous Polish prima donna, Madame Jadwiga Zebrowska, so well known throughout the east.

Another charming artist who will appear is Iva Hanners, a delightful young person in her teens who possesses a wonderful lyric soprano voice. Miss Hanners has the rare ability to make her audience laugh or cry.

Madame Felicia Romanowska, who ranks high among celebrated singers, will play some of the accompaniments. The program includes some of the most beautiful and difficult solos and duets ever composed for the human voice, namely:

L'Aiba Separa Valla Luce Lombra" (Tosti).

"Sivous Paviez Compris (Denza).

"Come Out in the Sweet Spring Night" (Gilberte).

"My Dreams" (Tosti). Sung by Henry Cantor with Harry Nielsen at the piano.

"Il Libro Santo" (Pensute), with 'cello obligato, Mme. Jadwiga Zebrowska.

Piano number, "Etude in D Flat Opus 25 No. 3 (Liszt), Harry Nielsen.

"Suicidio" (Pomchielli) and aria from "La Nozza di Figaro" (Mozart), by Miss Iva Hanners, with Mme. Romanowska at piano.

Scene from "Pagliaci," in costume; "Vesti la Giubba" (Leoncavallo), sung by Henry Cantor with Harry Nielsen at piano.

"Stride la Vampa" from "Il Trovatore" (Verdi), sung by Mme. Zebrowska, with Mme. Romanowska at piano.

"Al Nostri Monti" from "Il Trovatore" (Verdi), Henry Cantor and Mme. Zebrowska.

Piano number, "Militar Polonaise" (Chopin), Harry Nielsen.

DR. H. M. FAIRS IN NEW LOCATION

Dr. H. M. Fairs, the chiropodist, has moved into new and more commodious quarters in the Lawson building, being located in room 208, telephone Glendale 3084. Dr. Fairs enjoyed a good practice in his old location, and will be better able to serve the public in his new quarters as he will have more room and will add new equipment. His work is pronounced very satisfactory by those who have been treated by him for foot trouble.

CUPID CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM AT PRESS OFFICE

The marriage of Miss Clara Anne Gruenwald, of East Harvard, Los Angeles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gruenwald of Maquoketa, Iowa, and Edward Robertson of Glendale, took place Saturday evening in St. Mark's Episcopal church, Glendale, Rev. Philip Kemp reading the service in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

The bride has just returned from a two month's vacation spent on the farm of her parents in Iowa, and taught school this year in the Vernon high school. She is now on the teaching faculty of the Eagle Rock Central school. The groom is with the Glendale Daily Press. He is an expert linotype operator and a most valued employe. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson will make their home on East Hill avenue, Eagle Rock.

This marriage is the third one this year among the employes of the Daily Press, which is fast becoming known as a lair of the little blind god, Cupid.

'THE FIELDS ARE WHITE—PRAY'

Sunday was home-coming day at Central Christian church; not only were many of the members back from trips to the old home in the east, but the beloved pastor, Clifford A. Cole, was again in his pulpit. He was fresh from the great international convention of the Disciples of Christ, held at Colorado City, Colorado, September 3 to 9, inclusive. The morning sermon hour was devoted by him entirely to giving an account of the convention, which was the greatest in the history of the Restoration movement, with an attendance of over 4000. The motto, which gleamed in letters of fire across the front of the vast auditorium, which seats 6000 persons, was "The Fields Are White—Pray." This was the theme of many addresses during the session, of which the paramount thought was "unity."

One of the remarkable addresses delivered was by Carl Borders of the United Christian Missionary society, who had just returned from an extended visit to the churches of Russia. He said that nearly all that we see in the papers about religious affairs there is false. The common people are not molested in their religious observances by the bolshevik authorities, who find that is the only way to keep them quiet. They are becoming more and more democratic in their religion, getting as far away as possible from the old hierarchies. The church dignataries who were executed or imprisoned had meddled continually in governmental affairs, he said.

W. C. Pearce, International Sunday school secretary, came all the way from Argentina, 8,000 miles, to deliver an address at the convention.

W. E. Sweet, governor of Colorado, addressed the convention on "Everyday Religion," declaring men must live their religion more in home and business life. He also voiced the hearty welcome or all Colorado citizens to the convention delegates.

Bishop Meade of the Methodist Episcopal church gave a fine talk on "Christian Unity," declaring that the world would never be won for Christ until all Christians became one in spirit.

Many other splendid addresses were given and there was a wonderful Sunday sunrise service, attended by 6000 persons, held in the Garden of the Gods. That afternoon the great communion service was held, every seat in the auditorium being occupied.

Rev. Cole's sermon at the evening service was on the convention motto "The Fields are White—Pray," and was a stirring exhortation to his hearers to not only pray earnestly, fervently and sincerely, but to work, as well.

DID YOU GET YOUR THEATER TICKET?

Did you get your free theater tickets this week? Well, many readers of the Glendale Daily Press had complimentary tickets last week to the T., D. & L., and yesterday's Press contained the names of fourteen more citizens of Glendale who can get tickets for the asking from the firms whose advertising appeared on the full page headed, "Is your name here? Look! It is worth money to you!"

This feature will appear each Monday in the Glendale Daily Press and hundreds of free theater tickets will be distributed among Press readers. There are no strings whatever attached to the tickets—they are yours if you find your name in the advertisements on the full page feature. Get yesterday's Press — your tickets are waiting for you.

COOK'S CAFE HAS BEEN PURCHASED BY C. B. LAWSON

Charles B. Lamson, an experienced confectionery and cafe man from the east, has purchased Cook's Confectionery and Cafe, located at 128 South Brand boulevard.

When interviewed by the Daily Press Mr. Lamson stated that the policy of the new management would be to conduct the business in the same efficient high-class manner that has brought the present patronage up to such gratifying proportions. Mr. Lamson has also retained the same employes to help him maintain the high standard of quality and service. The business will be conducted under the name of Lamson's Confectionery and Cafe.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The local schools opened here yesterday with a decided increase in attendance The enrollment for yesterday was 310 against 208, on the opening day of last year. The average attendance of last year was 243. The enrollment at the close of last year's session was 178. Until the school rooms here and in Montrose are completed it will be necessary to have half-day sessions for a number of the rooms. The instructors for the coming year in La Crescenta are Alfred T. Blanford, principal and eighth grade; Mrs. Flora A. Mueller, seventh grade; Miss Isabel A. King, sixth grade; Miss Agnes Rasmussen, fifth grade; Miss Edith Rhae, fourth grade; Miss Sara Conlin, second and third grade, and Mrs. Ida H. Greenburg, first grade. In Montrose Mrs. Ester Eyre will have second and third grades, and Mrs. Edith M. Boyer will teach the first grade. The school trustees have been fortunate in securing the services of C. W. Ainger, a local resident, to teach sloyd work in the school this year. Mr. Angier is considered one of the best sloyd teachers in the Los Angeles city schools where he is employed. Mr. Angier will have charge of the new manual training room, fitted up by the board, and will devote two afternoons a week to the local schools.

Miss Marguerite Hauber announces the opening of her studio of music on South Ramsdale avenue, beginning Monday, September 17 Registration is now in order and plans have materialized to accommodate many new students. Miss Hauber has an her assistant, Mrs. Mabel Tompkins of the U. S. C., a splendid musician and a very efficient teacher Classes in harmony appreciation and elementary theory are being formed and semester recitals are being planned to provide students with public performance experience. Miss Hauber will continue her work at the College of Music, University of Southern California, as a member of the faculty, teaching piano, harmony and theory.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Galvin and son Jack of 1344 North Columbus avenue have returned from a few days' vacation at the Big Bear lake resort. They were accompanied by Mrs. Galvin's mother, Mrs. A. Enos, of the Victor Hotel. They enjoyed the mountain pleasures and found the weather ideal.

Mrs. F. H. Edwards, her daughter Lulu Edwards and her friend Miss M. Lembo, who have been guests of Mrs. Edwards' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kelleher of 528 North Louise, returned Sunday to their home in Oakland after a three weeks' sojourn in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Reynolds, 332 Ivy street, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Reynolds, have just come back from a few days at Tulare and Delano. Ivan Bell, who has been the house guest of the Reynolds, returned with them to his home in Tulare. While in that locality the party visited a number of Mr. Reynold's cousins.

Albert Cartlidge, of the City Hall, has just returned from a two weeks' motor trip to San Francisco, Oakland, and all the bay cities. Mr. Cartlidge was in Santa Rosa at the time of the eclipse, and it was clearly visible from there, but San Francisco, true to her reputation for cornering most of the fog on the map, totally obscured the event.

F. D. Gordon and W. H. Burke of Marysville are here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed N. Radke, the popular jeweler and optometrist of 109B South Brand. Mr. Radke was in business at Marysville for several years and hardly a week passes that one or more of his old friends don't drop in for a visit. friend don't drop in for a visit. Both gentlemen are surprised at the growth of Glendale and think this is about the best city they have ever visited.

Little Hubert Story, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Story of 641 Alexander street, is slowly recuperating from a very serious attack of typhoid fever.

Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Humphrey of Quincy, Illinois, are among the newcomers being welcomed to Glendale. They have taken the residence at 816 North Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Edwards, 805 East Acacia avenue, have had as their guest during the past week, Miss Wilma Webster of Los Angeles. Miss Webster returned to her home yesterday to enter U. S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hough, 340 West Windsor, have started on a two weeks' trip to Seattle and other points. They will have a ride up the Columbia river, and are planning a number of boat excursions to points of interest.

Miss Clarice Hanson left Glendale Sunday to enter the Southern Branch of the University of California in Los Angeles. Miss Hanson was one of the graduates from the local high school last June. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hanson, 221 Arden avenue.

Burt Cartlidge, the smiling-faced employe of the Glendale engineering department, who hangs out at the city hall, returned to work this morning after spending his two-weeks' vacation around San Francisco, Lake Tahoe and other northern points.

Today Miss Sadie Houdyshel resumes her teaching at the Hammel Street School in Los Angeles, a district in which foreign children abound. Her sister, Miss Sibyl Houdyshel, is employed in the Stafe University in the Teachers' Training School at Dayton Heights.

Mr. T. Pierre Noehle and family have returned from a month's vacation at "Theomar lodge," their new home at Arrowhead Lake. Among the guests at the lodge were Phil Schweitzer, the noted eastern scientist, and Mrs. J. Lavin and family of Alhambra.

Miss Isabel Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin, 317 West Leington drive has gone east with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Head. Miss Franklin graduated from the local high school in June. She will spend one year visiting with relatives and traveling about various eastern states before entering college. She plans to stop in Oklahoma, Chicago, Albuquerque and various other places on the trip east.

Mrs. David Gallagher, 1417 South Central, has received word that her nephew, Wm. Franklin Mason, American Vice-Counsul of Yokohama, Japan, is safe with the refugees at Kobe. Mr. Mason nas been in Japan for three years and has recently been appointed to the vice-consulate at Yokohama. He was in the city at the time of the disaster, and now Mrs. Gallagher is eagerly awaiting news of his experience. The message which she received yesterday afternoon from Washington stated merely that he was safe, and gave his present whereabouts. Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher have spent many hours worrying over the possible injury which he might have sustained in the danger zone. They were overjoyed at the good news.

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrete and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—General Pershing, General Liggett, General Johnson, who commanded the division, and other notables will be guests of the Ninety-first division at its fourth reunion, to be held in San Francisco, October 13 and 14 on the eve of the national convention of the American Legion, and most of the brigade and regimental commanders, as well as others more intimately connected with the history of the "Wild West" division, have signified their intentions of being present.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 veterans of the 91st are expected in San Francisco for the occasion, when the city will be host to between 150,000 and 200,000 Legionnaires from all parts of the United States. Automobile caravans are being organized throughout California and rail and water excursions are being arranged in most of the large cities of the coast to bring former 91st men to the reunion, according to reports being received at the 91st reunion information bureau, which has been established at 353 Bush street, San Francisco.

CHARLES GUTHRIE TELLS OF BIG DEALS MADE

Charles Guthrie reports the closing of an exchange deal for Mr. Fairbanks of Glendale for 350 acres in Colton valued at $180,000 which will be subdivided and put upon the market by the Guthrie Agencies.

Mr. Guthrie, who recently returned from Mexico, also reports the purchase of a 38,000 acre tract near Hermosillo on the west coast of Mexico, in association with Dr. Williams of Los Angeles and Mr. Gates of the Southwest Rubber Co. Dr. Williams, through whom Mr. Guthrie became interested, has been in Mexico 26 years. The country around Hermosillo is wonderful, Mr. Guthrie says, and the land is a very choice piece of property that is bound to be worth a great deal more money than the investors paid for it.

Mr. Guthrie states there was great rejoicing over the recognition of the Mexican government by the United States, which was celebrated while he was there. He was a guest at a wonderful ball given by the governors of Sonora at Hermosillo. A great era of prosperity is looked for now that recognition is an accomplished fact.

Miss Carrie Noble, principal of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate, who underwent a serious operation during the summer, finds her strength insufficient for the strain of school work at the present time and has asked for a leave of absence until the next semester, which the board has granted.

LAST COMMUNION IN OLD CHURCH SEPT. 30

Presbyterian Session Considers This Fitting Act of Reverence

The Session of the First Presbyterian Church has sent out the following letter to all members:

"It is with mingled feelings of joy and sadness that the Session announces the last communion service in the old church building, September 30, 11 a. m. The regular date for this sacramental gathering should be October 21, but nothing would seem more fitting than that we close our work in the old church with the most impressive assembly in our calendar. Hence we are hoping that none of our large church family shall be absent from the last solemn sacred feast—The Lord's Supper. In the quiet of these preparatory days, may we not hear Him say: 'This do in remembrance of Me,' 'for as often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till He come.'

"Besides all this, it is our supreme desire that a large number unite with the church, especially on confession of faith. To this end, there must be much calling done. Above and beyond all, the call is for earnest and definite prayer, not only for the unsaved, but for the renewal of vows on the part of every member of the church.

"Please notice that the reception to new members will be held Thursday evening, October 11.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW SECTION OF T. A. CLUB MEETS

The Parliamentary Law section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met in the palm room of the clubhouse Monday afternoon with the curator, Mrs. C. A. Brandstater in the chair.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means, was present and plans were outlined for the parcel post booth to be conducted by this section at the society circus, November 16-17, together with a committee of ex-service men and women of which Mrs. E. W. Gilliland is chairman, and of Community Service of which Mrs. C. C. Cooper is chairman, also the following committee: Mrs. V. Rapp, Miss Eva Daniels, Mrs. H. Venske and Mrs. Lilian Empey.

A vote was taken to make every member of the section and of the committee represented responsible for ten packages for the booth.

A meeting has been called for Friday, September 21, at which time articles for the booth will be made.

Mrs. Brandstater announced that Mrs. P. S. McNutt will have general supervision of the parliamentary law section throughout the season.

The first meeting of the section will be held Monday, October 22, when Mrs. A. A. Barton will speak on the value of parliamentary usage.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Brandstater for her her excellent work.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hospitality committee composed of Mrs. W. H. Verity, Mrs. Lilian Empey, and Mrs. H. Venske.

Burchett Opening to Be Considered

A meeting of members of the Brand Boulevard Improvement association is being held this afternoon at the Egyptian Cafe to consider final details in connection with the opening of Burchett street west to San Fernando road, according to plans approved by the city council. The aim in the opening of Burchett is to direct traffic through the heart of Glendale instead of leaving it to skirt the city on San Fernando road.

WIDENING OF CENTRAL TO BE DISCUSSED

Tonight there will be a meeting of the committee appointed by the Central Avenue Improvement association to consider the problem of widening that thoroughfare, preliminary to a general meeting of Central avenue property owners. It is mainly for the purpose of determining how much the protest movement against the improvement of the street amounts to.

Oranges and Lemons

from the Pacific-Southwest

ORANGES were first set out in California for commercial purposes in 1841; lemons, not until about 1875.

In 1922, the Pacific-Southwest produced 56% of the total orange crop, and 98% of the total lemon crop of the United States, at a total combined value of $70,000,000.

Of these crops, 73% were handled by the California Fruit Growers Exchange, the industry's cooperative marketing organization. Prior to this organization citrus growing was a hazardous enterprise, but since 1885, when the growers organized a body which later became the Exchange, the industry has been on a stable basis.

As cooperation in marketing has made for the success of this industry, so cooperation between banks under the Pacific-Southwest inter-community system has made possible a broader, more comprehensive financial service for this entire territory.

Covers will be laid for twenty relatives and friends. On his trip home Dr. McKelvy will go by way of San Francisco, and he will stop at Palo Alto to visit Stanford, where his son attended for his university work.

LEGION AUXILIARY DELEGATES TO EUREKA REPORT

At the meeting of the Glendale Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, four members who attended the state convention at Eureka made interesting reports of features of that gathering. Mrs. Kaeding told of the business sessions, Mrs. Hayward of resolutions adopted, Mrs. James McBryde of social activities, including trips to the redwoods, visits to big mills, etc; Mrs. L. T. Rowley described the journey going and returning.

At the business session the organization voted to give $5 to the Japanese relief fund.

Mrs. Nellie Snow submitted a report of the county council.

Plans were made for a meeting November 5 when Mrs. Bertha Dobbin of Long Beach, who is district chairman of Americanization, will be the guest and speaker. It was decided to invite the Eagle Rock Legion and Auxiliary, the Tujunga Legion and Auxiliary, the D. A. R. chapter of Glendale, and the men of the Glendale Post, American Legion.

Word is being sent to members not present Monday to meet at the Congregational church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock to assist members of the Red Cross chapter in work on layettes. The ladies are asked to bring sandwiches for their noon luncheon. Those who will be unable to come out Thursday are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, 347 North Orange, on the 27th.

Guests were present at the Monday meeting from Tujunga. Mrs. Wulson, president of the auxiliary there, and Mrs. B. Begue both responded to call and made interesting talks.

BIG FIRE AT OREGON PENITENTIARY

[By Associated Press]

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 18.—Six of the industrial buildings of the State Penitentiary here were destroyed today by fire that began at noon and was spreading toward the pump house and main prison building at 1:30 p. m. The loss was $100,000 at that hour.

One hundred convicts aided the city firemen in combatting flames that advanced before a strong wind. Spontaneous combustion was said to have caused the fire.

ANNUAL RODEO OF TRI MU BUNCH NEXT SUNDAY

Virile Class of Baptist Church to Round Up All Recreant Members

The annual rodeo of the Tri Mu bunch, consisting of a hundred rough and ready fellows of the First Baptist Sunday School of Glendale will be held at 9:30 o'clock on Sunday, September 7. The roundup on that day will consist of an effort to gather all of the men who have become members during the past year and who have visited the class during that time, along with as many other new men as possible, the desire being to have at least a hundred and fifty men out for this annual event. The Baptist church "rancho," corner Louise and Wilson, will be the scene of the roundup.

Final preparations for this event were made last night at a meeting of the Tri Mu leaders at the Baptist church. The details of the morning service were thoroughly gone over and a number of features that will be of unusual interest to those who attend, were suggested and accepted.

Arrangements were also made at this meeting for the annual banquet and business meeting of the class, which will be held in the basement of the church on Thursday evening, October 4. The early part of this evening will be given over to reports of commitees of the class, and suggestions for future work of the organization, after which a program and games will be enjoyed. Only members of the class will be invited to this event. The dinenr will be served by the ladies of the R. T. W. class of the church.

Rally day at the First Baptist Sunday school of Glendale will be held on Sunday morning, September 30. All departments of the Sunday school will join in this event. As the vacation season is over it is expected that the attendance at this event will be the largest of the year. During the morning a pleasing program will be rendered.

The church service of Sunday evening, October 7, will be under the direction of the Tri Mu class of the Sunday school. During the past year the men of that class have several times taken charge of the church services and on each occasion the programs offered have made a decided "hit." Everyone in Glendale, and especially the men of the city, are invited to be present on this occasion. J. R. Detwiler, chairman of the devotion committee of the class, will have charge of this service.

NEWCOMER FROM IOWA LAUDS CITY

"The greatest need in Glendale today," said L. N. Ritten, formerly of Nashua, Iowa, but now a "regular" booster of Glendale, "is a sure-enough hotel.

"When I landed in this town I had to find accommodations at the auto camp on the San Fernando road. I wanted to stop at a hotel, but could find no room in Glendale. I would gladly have paid $8 or $10 per day for a couple of rooms while I was looking around and getting located. This town is big enough to support two or three first-class hotels, and they, in turn, would do a great deal in building up the community."

Mr. Ritten was for six years mayor of the city of Templeton, Iowa. He has purchased two homes here since his arrival several days ago. One of these, at 619 East Chestnut street, he is living in, and the other he is renting.

"I am very favorably impressed with the way Glendale is building. Ten million dollars in building permits for a city of this size is almost unthinkable. Why, that is as much as the states of Iowa or Minnesota are doing in this line."

Mr. Ritten has entered into partnership with Charles E. Stanley, real estate dealer on Glendale avenue.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Roberts & Echols and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatisc pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Allenrhu relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

A DIFFERENCE IN PROCEDURE

Not long ago a pseudo Egyptian prince was shot by his wife in London. She seems not to have been a model person, but at that, better than the brute-man she killed. According to her statement she shot to save her own life. An American jury would take her word for it. In England there is a tendency to regard the law as something to be observed. It is difficult there to be the survivor in a homicidal episode and not be deemed culpable. No prisoner escapes by reason of a pretty face, a sweep of eyelash, or a graceful and opportune faint. Legal processes are stern, implacable; not subject to useless delay, and never conducted for the sole purpose of confusing the issue and ultimately releasing the guilty.

Sometimes it seems that English methods are too utterly devoid of clemency. However grave this fault may be, it has brought about a saving respect for the law. There is less crime of a violent nature in London in a year than in a large American city in ten days. The reason is obvious. The British assassin knows that when tried he will be found guilty; that the matter of determination will be one of facts and not of subterfuge. The tricks and quibbles of an American criminal lawyer could not be tolerated in an English court.

In the states, specifically in California, the assassin knows that however manifest his guilt, there is slender chance of conviction. He knows that if convicted he may have a new trial by asking for it. He is aware that if finally sent to prison, the likelihood of being freed to the opportunity of resuming his murderous career is indicated by precedent. Conditions that in England would send him to the gallows rightfully, in this country often would result in a modest term of detention while his counsel was arranging a plan to defeat the law, and make the profession of criminal safe and pleasing, to the criminal.

YOUNG PORTIA WINS

An English girl of twelve years received a box on the ear, the same bestowed by an aunt, who said the lass had been cheeky. The girl, after drying her tears doubtless, caused the arrest of the aunt for assault, conducted the case in court, and won. The slapper was put under bonds to slap no more, at least, not to slap the immature Portia. As loser the aunt was obliged to pay the costs of the action. How wide the influence of this case is to be, remains to be seen; pretty wide, perhaps, since the account was considered important enough to be cabled.

There is no novelty in giving a box to the ear of youth. It should not be done, however, without excellent reason. If the moral sense may thus be quickened, and penitence induced to set in, the harshness may be justifiable. It is to be borne in mind that the ear never was designed to receive a blow. There are other physical eminences better adapted to the purpose, where the sting of reproof would be as reformatory, and no harm done.

When a girl of twelve undergoes the experience of a spanking or its equivalent, indignation is the invariable reaction. This may be followed by a desire and a promise to be good, either through sorrow for sin or dread of another wallop. The memory of childish chastisement generally is brief, and the anger it excites, a mere passing flash of emotion. The English maid was constituted of sterner stuff. Doubtless auntie will have learned by now to take some one of her own size.

DECREASING THE UNDESIRABLES

Several violators of the espionage law were pardoned conditionally by the late President Harding. The condition was that they be sent out of the country. They sought to obviate the necessity of departing according to implied contract. The court has dismissed their writs of habeas corpus, and soon they will be on their way. There appears not the slightest reason why they should feel aggrieved.

These men in war time had been guilty of obstructing the draft. This made enemies of them. Their acts had all the color of treason. By the laws of war they held a status no better than that of spies, and harsh measures would have prescribed capital punishment for each. The assertion frequently made, that these and their kind, had committed no offense beyond that of expressing their opinions, is too palpably false to need reply.

It is strange that they should have fought deportation. They had not been satisfied with anything here. They would have been glad to assist in the overthrow of the government. In their belief ideal life was to be found only such a model regime as that of Russia. The sight of prosperity annoyed them. The evidence of patriotism was obnoxious. They denounced all with which they came in contact. Their duty, as they conceived it, was to tear down; as to building up, they had no thought.

The task of converting one hundred million people to their monstrous doctrines obviously was too great for accomplishment by a handful of alien malcontents. Yet across the sea, all ready made and waiting, were precisely the conditions they fancied their souls craved. The government, its first mild resentment having waned, was willing not only to let them go to home and happiness, but to pay for their passage. And yet they complain. They're an ungrateful lot, that's what they are.

CONCERNING INTELLIGENCE

"When one is not intelligent enough to play good bridge, it is a good pretense to prefer books," remarks a critic. It was not a happily conceived introduction.

The mental quality that is part of the equipment of a bridge player of excellence hardly deserves classification as intelligence. Not that a person of high mental gifts might not enjoy the game as a diversion, even without being counted an expert. To many good players bridge is not a diversion; it is a religion and a fetish. It takes the place of all pursuits stimulating to the faculties and instructive to the mind. Devotion to it is not a sign of intelligence, nor necessarily indicative of the lack of it. It simply has nothing to do with the case. The most ardent player may find the game restful. It gives the busy thinker an opportunity to relax, not to indulge in his deep thinking.

Champions in such amusements as checkers and dominoes may be wise persons. They are not to be so adjudged by reason of being champions. If to distinction of this type they have applied the best there is in them, they may be quite harmless and well-meaning individuals, but there is not much in them. Perhaps bridge occupies a more exalted plane. Anyhow, so great is the army of bridge players that it would be unsafe to allege the contrary.

A report of the department of justice says that many high officials of the government, many prominent members of the bar, scions of aristocracy, and multi-millionaires, have been prosecuted for violation of the prohibition law. Accepting the report as accurate it would seem that the trials must have been conducted without ostentation.

The returning battleship fleet was warmly welcomed at San Pedro. Not only is the presence of navy men and officers appreciated, but the manner in which the usually staid Pacific has been cutting up didoes lately, creates anxiety for any craft that is out on its erratic bosom. Safe arrival at port may almost be regarded as a triumph.

It takes money to start a business, but it will stop without any.

STUBBORNNESS DE LUXE

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Do you happen to know any of those curious people who indulge in stubbornness as a form of dissipation?

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

If you think there is no such creature, open your eyes and look about you a bit. They are everywhere and they are as unconscious of their attitude as a hippopotamus is of his lack of pulchritude. Stubbornness feeds their egoistic complexes; they know no other way to feel superior and so they defeat everybody who appears by stubbornly doing what nobody wants done.

The public markets are fine grounds for investigating this species of human mule. I've just had a run in with one. She "serves" the public at a certain excellent coffee stand. But some day she will cease to serve with disconcerting abruptness; she is far too fond of stubborn jags.

Why that girl should refuse to pulverize coffee for people who buy it unground and like it pulverized is too much for me. It requires no more exertion to pulverize it than to grind it moderately fine; yet she will grind it fine in preference to pulverizing it unless you stand by and watch her every minute.

Three or four times I've had to take my coffee back because it was too coarse for dripping and each time some other salespeople has pulverized it and apologized for the "error." For some strange reason the girl seems to consider a request for pulverized coffee as a kind of affectation that should be reproved by being denied.

The best example of stubbornness de luxe that ever came under my observation was that of a young woman who has come to the edge of starvation as a result of it. Somebody arrived in the nick of time and offered her an opportunity to earn a nice living by selling sandwiches to the children at a nearby high school.

She made up a basket of them, thin and dainty, also delicious. But they were small and served only to whet healthy appetites of growing youngsters. After a day or so the pupils deserted her and patronized the sandwich joint at the corner where they sold fat hunks of bread and weenies with a large pickle to boot.

Friends suggested to the basket merchant that she meet the demands and serve food of a heftier quality. I heard her reply, not once but repeatedly.

"That kind of stuff is not fit to eat and I refuse to serve great thick sandwiches; everybody will think I am common and don't know how food should be served."

She stuck out stubbornly and so did the kids with the inevitable result, failure for her. She was succeeded by a woman who delighted to please and that woman for years made a good living for herself and an invalid husband.

Do you ever indulge in stubbornness to gratify pride? If you do, look out; it's worse than dope and bye and bye it will get you.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Not long ago I went upon a little journey in which I mixed extensively with my fellow men. Sometimes a dozen of us found ourselves meeting over and over again, in different cities, various hotels, many trains. We talked. We related our experiences. Time after time I was struck with the fact that my fellow travelers were—broadly speaking—not learning anything. They told of the inconvenience of travel, the impertinances offered them, the extraordinary cost of everything. But they had escaped all knowledge. They knew no more at the end of a town than they did before.

"They were fools," said my adored partner, scornfully.

They were not. Several of the men had made fortunes through their own endeavors. That proves they were not fools, however we poor men may effect to look down on the man who makes money. One had held on to an inherited fortune. That is a fine proof of capacity. The women were the fine, alert, snappy women one is accustomed to see in America. Yet they assuredly had not benefited by travel.

"The fault was that of their school teachers," said a bitter member of that profession. "They were not taught to observe, examine, reflect, when they were young."

He said the average teacher is, perhaps, sinfully underpaid. But there are school teachers, he says, who would be overpaid if they got only nothing a week.

"But," said he, "we can never correct this state of affairs until we make the position of pedagogue sufficiently lucrative and honorable to attract men of the highest ability. At present it is only a stepping-stone to better jobs."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Fighting is perhaps as old as life itself.
Originally the struggle for survival.
The fights among the prehistoric beasts.
For food, for the domination of the herd, for the matter of existence.

* * *

Fights have gone on in the minutiae of creation.
Among the larvae, the insectivora, the animalculae.
Some set out to defeat others.
The strong survived.
The weaker perished.

* * *

And then came fierce prehistoric battles between monsters of creation.
Giant animals inhabiting the earth in ages millions of years ago.
Battling with each other and maiming and destroying.

* * *

The cave man was perhaps something of a fighter himself.
He fought for a place to live, for a woman, for food, and against the beasts of his time.
For he found it was necessary to fight to live.
Those who had no fighting quality either fled, or were beaten or eaten.

* * *

And in the original human family, as the ecclesiastical history sets forth the account of creation, Cain slew Abel.
The lust for fighting and slaying was thus early implanted in the human spirit.
And then the tribes of the world began killing each other.

* * *

For fertile fields.
For wooded and shaded valleys.
For herds of cattle and flocks of sheep.
For dominion and conquest.
For jewels and fine raiment.
All history, legendary and authenticated, is a story of fighting.

The wars of the world have taken up most of the pages of history.

The annals of peace have taken little time.

The history of the Egyptians and the Israelites and the Chaldaeans and the Babylonians and the Romans and the people of the dark ages has been a story of fightings and killings.

* * *

In the times of Roman greatness fighting as an entertainment grew to its height.

In the great colosseums where men fought with beasts, beasts fought with beasts, and men fought with men.

There were training schools for gladiators.

The victorious gladiator was a hero of his time with many people.

Just as a victorious prize fighter is in these days.

* * *

The qualifications were strength, skill, courage and brutality.

The rewards were great.

Greater than those of orators, poets, dramatists, artists, sculptors or lawmakers.

Just as in these times.

Because in the breasts of many people there is a desire to look upon fighting.

Fighting with bloodshed and bruises and hammerings and knockouts.

* * *

If there were two dogs trained to fight to a finish, or for a given time, we should stop it.

We should declare it brutal and horrible and the law would frown upon it.

No promoter would even set two lions on each other for a price.

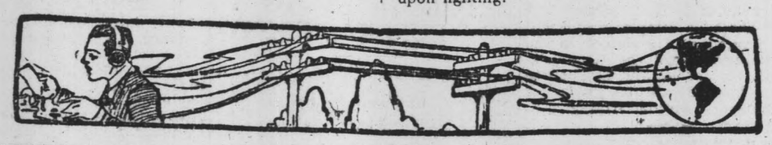
* * *

But men are trained and set upon each other.

And the enthusiasm is great.

More columns of the newspaper press have been devoted to the recent heavyweight fight than have been devoted in ten years to the good of the world.

Because there is in the nations today, as was in the Romans, the same passion to look upon fighting.



Songs of the Poets

Keen—By Edna St. Vincent Millay, in Century

Weep him dead and mourn as you may,
Me, I sing as I must:
Blessed be death, that cuts in marble
What would have sunk to dust!

Blessed be death, that took my love
And buried him in the sea,
Where never a lie nor a bitter word
Will out of his mouth at me!

This I have to hold to my heart,
This to take by the hand:
Sweet we were for a summer month
As the sun on the dry, white sand;

Mild we were for a summer month
As the wind from over the weirs;
And blessed be death, that hushed with salt
The harsh and slovenly years!

Who builds her a house with love for timber,
Builds her a house of foam;
And I'd rather be bride to a lad gone down
Than widow to one safe home.

RED LIGHT ON JAPAN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

UPON me this Japanese disaster produces a peculiar effect. It is as if over some quiet scene of pastoral beauty suddenly the Red Spot Light of Hell had been flashed.

The effect has been to dumb my faculties. I can see no reason and draw no philosophic conclusions from it because my mind is paralyzed. I cannot even feel, for the blow has stunned all the nerve I had to feel with.

My whole memory, of things once so delightful to recall, is suddenly lurid with strange flames. Only yesterday we rode along the streets of Tokio and Yokohama in those jinrickishas that make one feel like a grown-up riding in a baby wagon, and laughed at each other and all the population of the most smiling land in the world laughed with us, along those streets now littered with the dead.

Only yesterday we puttered in Benten Dori street and bought little exquisite lacquered cups and silver jimcracks and handled the soft and lustrous silks, which have now been fed to the furious fires.

Where today is a mass of fallen stone and burnt timbers, the Imperial Hotel, by far the most unique and beautiful hotel building in the world, we attended but a short time ago in the gorgeous ball room the banquet given by the last of the Shoguns.

To read of eight thousand people massed, trampled, crushed and burned in the Railway Hotel at Tokio, gives an uncanny sensation when we recall but a month or so ago we lunched pleasantly in this same place with a little group of missionaries.

Where now is desolation and heaped up horror, we were entertained by the Japanese bankers at the Mitsui Club and the Bankers Club by the gentlest and most courteous of the world's gentlemen, and we walked through the delightful gardens and gazed at the flying fishes leap from the waters of the bay, and we sat in the soft twilight and watched the charming daughter of the house as she performed for us the ancient "Tea Ceremony" and it seemed like a picture from another and gentler age, and we were entertained at the beautiful homes of the Viscount Shibusawa, and Asano the ship magnate, and Hirooka the banker, and wandered through the narrow by-streets amidst swarms of women with happy babies upon their backs; listened to the cry of the vendors; and poked about in the huge department store that is now but smoking cinders.

What does it all mean?

I for one have no cock-sure philosophy or theory that can explain it. It is part of that vast mysterious adventure of which all life is but a phase.

For that matter the very earth on which we live goes in its orbit around the sun at a speed some forty times greater than that of a cannon ball and the whole solar system of which we are a part is flying upon a still more uncertain and vertiginous speed toward its unknown goal, and the earthly ball itself spins about on its axis at a rate in our latitudes of some 18,000 miles a day or perhaps half the speed of a Mauser rifle bullet.

So that if any one thinks he understands the why and wherefore of the mysterious deeds of nature and knows the full meaning of life, if he can wrap himself up in a comfortable orthodoxy, or sit himself down in an uncomfortable infidelity equally as positive, he is more sure of himself than I am.

But I have known horrors before and shall doubtless meet them again upon my journey. And the worst that can happen to any of us is death. And the very uncertainty and mysteriousness of it brings me back to the underlying conviction:

"Behind the Great Unknown
Standeth God within the shadow
Keeping watch above his own."

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

HENRY JAMES

Scientists ought to explain, if they can, what's the matter with the Pacific. It is not acting in accord with tradition. It is belying its name. If it is showing its real character now it was fooling when first Balboa gazed upon it and was charmed with its tranquility.

The ocean near these shores has been the scene of a series of disasters. Seven naval vessels were piled on the rocks on a recent night that in itself seemed to have afforded no reason for foreboding. Three others barely escaped destruction, but managed to get away bearing desperate scars. A little later the battelship Texas collided with a merchant marine ship, and just before, the Cuba had been lost. There were fogs, to be sure, but a navigator is supposed to be familiar with currents, to be aware of dangerous ledges, and to hold to the rule of safety first.

The floor of the sea has been riven and upheaved. Mad waters have been sent racing across the deep. The secrets of the sea are hidden. Who shall reveal them?

A girl traveled clear from Alaska to Atlantic City to compete in a beauty contest. Then she was barred out. The publication of her pictures explains why; they were afraid of her, that's all. Somebody had picked a favorite for winner, and didn't propose to have the prize packed off to Alaska.

As a rule a beauty contest does not amount to much. This one gains particular interest from the fact that the girl has sued for $150,000 damages.

Everybody ought to know by this time what a woman scorned is, and not venture to incur her wrath.

When a man seeks to hire a secretary or other attache, and requires a $5000 deposit from the applicant, there is but one thing for the applicant to do. This is to hold firmly to what cash he has, and get away from there.

A real estate broker is accused of trying to put across a deal of this sort. Old stuff.

It seems singular that Senator Brookhart should have refused to make a speech. He was not believed to require urging. On the contrary if the public had sought an injunction against his flow of oratory, the situation would be quite understandable. Brookhart overplayed his tongue. He had made a promise to speak to each of two organizations in the same town, apparently unaware that the two were not on speaking terms. Therefore he compromised by sidestepping both engagements. Doubtless he was shattering the silence elsewhere on that date.

One of the organizations, evidently over-estimating the value of the Brookhart output of golden words, is bringing suit for $10,000 damages. No likelihood of collecting is to be discerned, but Brookhart has been given something to think about.

That Los Angeles was slow in making up its quota for Japanese relief was a humiliation. There is no excuse to be advanced. The richest and largest city on the Pacific coast, the one that has the greatest hope of benefit from oriental trade, fell down on the job.

The other night a policeman shot an automobile thief. As the shot was not fatal, there is small ground for belief that the thief has been reformed. No successful method of reforming his kind has been found yet, short of killing, and there is some hesitancy still in being quite so drastic.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE OTHER CHILDREN

Of course it's too bad but like many other things in this world, it can't be helped. You can't bring up the children without reference to the other children. Just when you think you have grounded them in the faith, the other children come along and spoil it all.

You teach Max that his family do not smoke cigarettes because it is not good for them. You teach him that his growth might be checked that his lungs might rebel and his nerves suffer should he smoke them.

He seems to have accepted it all calmly enough, until one day he announces that Harold smokes and that he says all that talk about injuring health with a few whiffs of cigarette smoke is all nonsense!

"He says look at his father! He smokes all he wants to and he's the biggest man in the town! And isn't it true? And he says during the war we sent loads of cigarettes to soldiers to make them fight better, and we did, didn't we? So I'm for smoking!"

"Now isn't it just too bad?" you say to yourself. "Why should that troublesome neighbor boy come along just when we had things fixed up so nicely?"

What's the use? Wouldn't he have come along in some form or other? Isn't he coming along all the time wherever you go whatever you try to do? You have always to reckon with the other children. They with yours make the world. Wouldn't it be silly to train up your children in disregard of the others?

Of course, it is not wise for growing boys to smoke and that's flat. But how are you going to teach them that? The best way to do it is to stick close to the facts. Some people can smoke cigarettes all day without suffering by the performance and some other folk can't.

Besides the effect of the smoking there is a social side to it that has many dangers for the growing lad. Tell him about it and appeal to his reason. Piling up the agony won't get anywhere, because the children will laugh it away.

It is well on the whole to know as much about the other children as we can. They are the public opinion that has the last word on what we are teaching. Invite them to come in and make themselves heard. Teach them to speak right out and thrash out the thing that you differ upon.

Don't make the old-fashioned mistake that what children say does not matter. It matters tremendously to your children.

It is no longer possible to dominate the lives of our children. We train them when they are little, but when they are old enough to think they become part of the great democracy of childhood and the other children count.

They count so much that when you are placing the children in school you look well to the kind of children that compose it. You know they will have a powerful influence on the child you place among them. Then why not acknowledge that, to begin with, and get the power on your side, if possible?

Above all be honest with them. Let them know that they count and so carry a great responsibility. That helps much.

DYNAMITERS OPEN SECOND WEEK OF GRID PRACTICE

Will Meet San Fernando in First Practice Tangle Friday Afternoon

With but four days until their first practice game, the Glendale High school footballers started their second week of training yesterday. On Friday the Dynamiters will clash with the San Fernando eleven at the Mission City, while the lightweights will take the San Fernando midgets at home.

Every day new stars seems to be coming to the front on the high school team. Jim Crow, a young fellow from New Mexico, is one of the latest to attract attention. Jim is out for the fullback job, and from all indications will land the berth. He is fast on his feet, although heavy, and is a good kicker. He has had considerable experience at full.

Center, the position that threatened to give Hayhurst considerable worry, now has several aspirants. Among them are Garrison Morrison and a newcomer named Zaun. Zaun looks mighty good in action. He is not quite so heavy as Morrison but is right on the job every minute and knows his stuff to a T.

Howard Elliot has been showing quite a husky toe lately. He is booting the pigskin for all he is worth, and that is going some. But Elliot and Elmer Fitz are also going quite strong in the punting line.

Running interference and a little scrimmage were indulged in during the afternoon. The boys showed themselves to be in fine condition, and none the worse for a week of football. Coach Hayhurst states that it will be impossible until the last part of the week to select his tenative line up for the San Fernando tangle. Even then the team that meets the Mission City lads will be no indication of the final personnel of the Dynamiters' first squad for the year. Many practice games will have to be played, and different men tried out at the various positions before any team can be selected from the mass of material out every afternoon.

Horseshoe Stars Are Now Ready to Fling

[By Associated Press]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—The fourth annual tournament under the auspices of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' association opens here tomorrow with representatives from 24 states, including all of the game's celebrities, participating. According to John H. Gourley of the Cleveland Recreation Council, it will be the largest in the history of the sport.

At least 200 will compete in the men's tournament alone, Mr. Gourley predicted. In addition to the men's tournament, there will be a tournament for women and one for boys under 15.

Probably the most conspicuous player in the tourney will be Harold Falor, a 15-year-old Akron boy who won the national championship at St. Petersburg, Fla., last winter. Mrs. J. F. Fransisco of Muskegon, Mich., is the holder of the women's title.

JACK DEMPSEY TAKES HOME A HALF MILLION

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Jack Dempsey leaves today for his home in Salt Lake City, with nothing to show for his battle of Friday night except a black eye and nearly half a million dollars. After paying a brief visit to his mother, he will proceed to Los Angeles, where he hopes to have an extensive holiday.

Dempsey will not meet any opponents in the ring until the first of next year at least, Jack Kearns, his manager, said.

CARPENTIER IN DEFI TO GIBBONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Tex Rickard, fight promoter, announced that he had received a cablegram from Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight, expressing a desire to meet Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul fighter, in a fifteen-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

CONFERENCE TEAMS BEGIN PRACTICE

Oxy, Caltech, Whittier, Pomona, Start Grid Work in Earnest

Southern California Conference football started off with a rush Monday. Most of the colleges in the conference opened began tanbark practice in the afternoon, and those that did not will start in the next day or so.

Occidental

Ten letter men, stars of the last year's team, reported for work at the Tiger institution. Argue and Spangler, ends; Priaulx, center; Creighton, guard; Westgate, Gary, Ridderhoff, Sroaf, Erbs and Creighton in the backfield, form the nucleus around which Coach Joe Pipal will build his 1923 machine. Numerous new candidates were out, and indicated that they would push the veterans for all they were worth for their places.

Occidental will have one of the best teams in the conference this season, and it will be mighty difficult to beat. It has been predicted that the team that beats the Tigers will win the conference bacon.

A flock of former high school stars turned out for the frosh at Oxy, indicating that the Tiger peagreeners will be strong this season.

Caltech

Coach Fox Stanton gave his Engineers their first workout Monday. More than 30 candidates were on the field. Seven lettermen and numerous veterans of the last year's frosh team were on hand. Moyse, Groat, Goldsmith, Foster and other stars are back on the job.

The Engineers will have a real team this season, and will give the others a run for their money. They have a fine chance of running off with the conference title this season.

Pomona

Only three of last year's lettermen reported at the Claremont institution Monday. Added to this, this squad its without a captain. One of the three lettermen, Mooney, is suffering with a broken leg. Coach Nixon is about as cheerful as an undertaker, and his chance of winning is about the same as a turtle in the sweepstakes.

Whittier

Practice at the Poet institution began last week. Suggett, Johns, Weighman, Buskmaster, are back on the job. The season does not look so bad for the Poets, but they have no championship team.

Southern Branch and Redlands will start practice some time this week.

ROARING PLANES CIRCLE LONDON'S BUSY AIRDOME

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Sept. 18.—For the first time since its creation many Londoners who stayed in town on bank holiday discovered London's great airport at Croydon, and were duly surprised to find it very like a main-line railway station.

There is a level crossing near the entrance where a flagman holds up the road traffic while big Handley-Page and other planes roar across the roadway prior to leaving earth for Paris, Rotterdam, Cologne or Hamburg. Once past the flagman, the visitor comes to a compact village in which headquarters of various air services are situated round an up-to-date hotel, adjacent to a postoffice, meteorological office, air administrative headquarters and customs establishment.

Enormous charts are set up on which the progress of various services are flagged by an official who is in constant wireless touch with planes on their way to and from various capitals. Should any particular plane be arriving late, it is ordered to wait and taxi around until an outgoing liner is clear and so avoid risk of a collision.

On the ground there is a rush of porters and interpreters to meet incoming and outgoing planes. After being in the heavens several hours, conditions, on alighting, are very similar to those at a railway station.

LEGION TO FORM BASKETBALL TEAM

A. G. Wheelon, manager of Glendale's basket ball team, is already getting his men together for the coming season. It looks as if the foothill gang had designs on the pennant this year.

The boys from Post 127 finished with a grand spurt last year and their chances this coming season are excellent and Wheelon is not going to let a lack of condition keep him out of the running this time.

Basketball will be one of the events at the National Convention and any Post in Southern California desiring to enter a team can do so by communicating with this office. The regular season will start shortly thereafter

Pretty Philadelphia Girls Set New Quarter-Mile Relay Record

When four young girls from the Meadowbrook club invaded New York recently they clipped 5.4 seconds from the American record for the 440-yard relay. The time was 52.4 seconds. By FRANCIS WIKLERSON READ

GIBBONS WANTS ANOTHER CRACK

Tommy Gibbons, who stayed for fifteen rounds with Champion Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Montana, on July 4, is in Los Angeles on a theatrical tour. Writing in a Los Angeles paper, he announces that he will seek a return match with Dempsey in the near future. He asserts that had Firpo beaten the champion the Argentine would not have allowed another American to get a crack at the title, but now that Dempsey is still the champ he hopes to get another try at the much coveted laurels.

In the opinion of the writer, such a match would not prove popular with the fans. In the first place, Gibbons, although a great fighter, has showed himself to be inferior to Firpo. He was able to stay fifteen rounds with Dempsey, but not with the same Dempsey that met the Bull of the Pampas at the Polo Grounds Friday night. Gibbons admits that much. He says that he realizes that Dempsey fought no such battle against him as he did against Firpo, but expresses hope that the champ would give him a real slugging contest in a return match.

It is our opinion that Gibbons would not be able to stand up under the blows the champion handed to Firpo. Seven times was the Argentine floored before he took the count. Firpo is noted for his ability to take punishment, and can take far more than any fighter, even the great Dempsey. Tommy Gibbons could not stand up under blows such as Firpo received. He was just hanging on at the end of the Shelby affair, and he had not been floored once.

Neither can Tommy hit the way Firpo can. He landed Dempsey a couple of blows that with the proper force behind them could have sent the champion low. Firpo twice sent Dempsey to his feet. Gibbons has not the force behind his punches to do that.

In short, Gibbons is no such fighter as Firpo. He can neither give nor take as can the Argentine. Another match between Gibbons and Dempsey would not be a popular one because the champion has demonstrated himself to be a much better fighter than he was at Shelby, when Gibbons was forced to his utmost to stay fifteen rounds.

WILL DEMPSEY MEET WILLS?

It is rumored that Harry Wills, colored fighter who sought to restrain the champ from meeting Firpo, is seeking a match with Dempsey at Tiajuana. Wills is now the "logical contender" for the title. He is the only pugilist of note whom Dempsey has not met. True, he is not the fighter that Firpo is, and such a bout would not prove as popular as a return bout between the Argentine and Dempsey, but nevertheless Dempsey has defeated Firpo, while he has not met Wills. Dempsey made the statement that he would never under any condition meet the colored fighter. He issued this statement when Wills attempted to stop Firpo bout and make the champ meet him. In all probability Dempsey was enraged by the action of Wills, and spoke on the spur of the moment. That he would welcome a bout with Wills is highly probable.

WILLS AND FIRPO

At the same time some suggest that Firpo be matched with Wills. The writer believes that Firpo would easily lay the negro out in a short time. Dempsey would take his time, not really fighting unless forced to do so, while the wildman from South America lights right in for all he is worth and never stops until the scrap ends in a knockout. He showed it in the Willard scrap, and again in the title bout. While Dempsey would probably defeat Wills, he would put up no such battle as would Firpo. He fights hard only when forced to do so, and Firpo is the only man who has been able to force him to really fight.

Sport Briefs - By Wire

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Harry Wills and his manager, Paddy Mullins, have decided that it might be all right for Harry to fight Luis Angel Firpo without holding out for a bout with Champion Jack Dempsey, according to the plan suggested by Tex Rickard some time ago.

But now Firpo has changed his mind. He is signed with Rickard to meet Wills, but the articles are not definite and Luis Angel said that although he was willing to meet the negro fighter, he did not think he wanted to meet him for at least a year

Fishing and hunting for deer and dove have kept sportsmen busy in a number of sections of California during the present week.

Sisson reports that, with clear and warm weather, fish have been biting good in nearby streams.

Good fishing for trout with flies also is reported along the Fordyce river, four to seven miles from Cisco. Reports from Cisco state trout fishing in the American river still is fair, but that the water is getting low. Fly fishing at Loch Leven lake now is good, some catches of large fish being brought in.

Southern California golfing events include: Summer golf championship for men, Coronado, September 13-15; Olympic Club's fourth annual outing tournament, Del Monte, September 21-24; state amateur championship and women's championship, Del Monte and Pebble Beach, September 22-30.

The dove season opened September 1 in Southern California and these birds have attracted the attention of a number of hunters. Sission reports that sportsmen in search of deer have caught several bucks in the lava beds and in the McCloud district.

Surf fishing along Southern California beaches and from piers was reported as only fair during the week. No unusual catches were reported from Catalina waters.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Thirty-two of the leading golfers of America, including seven former holders of the title, teed off today in the first 36-hole match round of the National Amateur Golf Championship at Flossmoor as a result of their ability to survive two qualifying rounds of 18 holes in which Bobby Jones of Atlanta and Chick Evans of Chicago tied for low scores at 149.

Jess Sweetser of New York finished the first 18 holes 8 up to Albert Seckel of Chicago and Bob Gardner of Chicago was three up to Rudolph Knepper of Sioux City.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The smallest field of contestants—about 120—that has been seen in championship golf tournaments for several years, teed off at the Flossmoor Country Club this morning on the last 18 holes of qualifying for the national amateur championship. Of the 200 who entered nearly half withdrew or failed to appear in time to start the first round of qualifying play Saturday.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 18.—Kid Pancho of San Antonio, knocked out Gene Larue, Canadian flyweight champion, in the third round of their scheduled 12-round bout.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Eddie Anderson of Moline, Ills., was given a newspaper decision over Kewpie Trembly of Chicago in a ten round bout at East Chicago.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 18.—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., featherweight, won every round of a ten-round boxing contest with Joey Fox, said to be champion of England.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 17.—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, will meet Bryan Downey of Cleveland in a ten-round bout at Forbes Field, September 27, it was announced today.

UNITED STATES IS SUPREME IN THE TENNIS WORLD

Nation Has Established Prestige and Superiority in Net Sport

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (United Press).—In no other international sport, with the possible exception of the Olympic games, has the United States established the prestige and superiority that it has in tennis.

American golfers have had only ordinary success in international play and as a golf nation the United States is much younger than it is on the court.

Polo, another of the more polite sports, has brought mixed success to American teams and, although the international cup is held at present in this country, the supremacy of this country is not so pronounced, as England had to start all over after the ravages of the war.

The United States has yet to be defeated in the Olympic games, mostly because this country has such a big start and has such an immense field to to draw from. With the development of track and field sports in the smaller European nations, the prestige of the United States is threatened and will be actually endangered at the Paris games next summer.

European nations still hold almost complete sway in fencing, and American oarsmen have not been consistently successful in the big international regattas.

Professional boxing, in which the United States is almost supreme, is not considered because the game as it is promoted and managed in the United States offers little to boast about in clean sportsmanship.

During the regime of the late Wilding, Brookes and Patterson, Australia was about as safe in the possession of the cup as the United States is now with Tilden and Johnston holding places as the two best players in the world.

Australia is developing some good young players, but it takes years and the outlay of a great sum of money to train a young player for Davis Cup play.

James O. Anderson, the Australian team captain, was the only one who stood out this year as a player capable of extending either Tilden or Johnston, and no nation can hope to win the cup with only one player.

As tennis goes, Tilden and Johnston are still young players, and they should have several years ahead of them before they start to slip.

As long as they remain on their game they should be able to defend the cup succesfully, as there are no outstanding young players in quanity being developed by rival nations.

CANCEL GAMES IN COMMUNITY SERVICE LEAGUE

Removal of Lights Necessitates Action; Fords Declared Winners

Announcement that the remainder of the games in the Community Service baseball league will have to be canceled was made yesterday by Community Service Director Tucker. The reason for the sudden decision to stop play is that the lights that have illuminated the field must be taken down during the football season. Several times since the football practice has opened the balls have been kicked against wires, bringing down some of the light shades and resulting in injury to two students at the high school. In order to avoid future disasters of this sort it has been decided to remove the lights, necessitating suspension of play in the Community Service league.

Final checking of results reveals several errors in computation of the standings of the teams, and shows that the Fords finish winners with five victories and no defeats. The City Engineers and the Newton Electrics tied for second place, each having won four games and lost one. The Post Office team, with three wins and two losses is tied with the Glendale Press for third position. The First Methodist church rates the cellar berth with one victory and two defeats. Several of the teams that entered the league have not played any of their scheduled games, and are therefore not included in the standings. The games they did not play are counted as won by the opposing teams by default.

Mr. Tucker announces that when the Evening High school opens next week, indoor sports will be commenced. Volley ball and basket ball will be the two major games. The Community Service will assist Coach Hayhurst in the forming of teams and arranging of games. Teams wishing to enter the night school league should communicate with Mr. Tucker at the Chamber of Commerce or Coach Hayhurst at the High school as soon as possible.

MIDGET GRIDDERS SHOW REAL PEP IN PRACTICE

Many Late Ones Turn Out for Practice at Beginning of 2nd Week

"They may be little, but, oh, my—." The Glendale High lightweight football squad, although well under the 130 pound limit, is developing all the aggressiveness and football tactics necessary to win the Central League midget rag. Opening their second week of practice yesterday, the baby Dynamiters showed up in great style.

Numerous new aspirants have turned out since the midgets first donned their suits a week ago. Most of them have proved to be the real stuff, and several are exceptionally good. The only trouble is that nearly all are inexperienced at the gentle gridiron sport.

La Franchie, McAlister, Muff, Horri and a few of the last year's stars form a nucleus around which Coach Butterfield will build his 1923 machine. The old timers are getting back into their former stride in great style, and are inspiring the green ones to get down to work.

Next Friday the baby Dynamiters will tangle with the San Fernando midgets on the local gridiron. Coach Butterfield is anticipating a hot scrap, and is anxious to see how his charges will act when they get into the fray. To date they have been practicing tackling, clipping, scrimmage, and a few of the other rudiments of the game.

GERMANY'S ART THIEVES BUSY

[By Associated Press]

MUNICH, Sept. 18.—Burglars recently rifled the villa of the late Franz von Lenbach, painter of the well-known Bismarck pictures who has been dead for 20 years, and stole a number of valuable masterpieces. These included a picture of Franz Hals called "The Laughing Boys," two pictures by Teniers, an original sketch by Rubens, and a number of paintings by Lucas Crannach and other celebrated artists.

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF EASTERN STAR AT SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO—Sept. 18.—Twenty different committees are working out details to ensure the comfort of more than ten thousand delegates and their friends who will be here October 16 to 19 to participate in the fiftieth annual convention of the Order of the Eastern Star.

As the coming annual State Convention marks the jubilee of fifty years of the organization, special features are being arranged. The regular business sessions will be held in the Scottish Rite Hall on Van Ness avenue. Considerable business of state-wide importance is to be transacted and officers will be elected for the coming year. Worthy Grand Matron Stella Morgan Linscott of Berkeley and Worthy Grand Patron Ernest Eugene Noon of Los Angeles are in San Francisco this week conferring with general chairman Mrs. D. E. F. Easton and other committee heads on the arrangements for the convention.

The various committees which are functioning for the success of the convention and their chairmen follow: Hospitality, Dr. James Sanderson; luncheons, Mrs. Emma Marquard; transportation and baggage, Dr. Nathan Schwartz; publicity, Clovis A. Farnsworth; historic, Mrs. Olive Scott; halls, Mrs. Hattie Smith; music, George Kenyon; entertainments, J. H. Walker; automobiles and tours, Leonard Crossley; decorations, Mattrup Jensen; hotel accommodations, Mrs. Ceva Barnes; finance Arthur B. Saunders; fruit and flowers, Mrs. Nellie Husted; information, Mrs. Dot Shaffer; registration, Mrs. Jeanette Schaef; souvenirs and badges, Lewis Pettingill; headquarters, Mrs. Ida Smith; printing, George Haas; grand ball, Mrs. Olive Scott.

Small James, upon his return home from his first visit to Sunday school, was asked by his mother what he had learned.

"Oh, mamma," he replied enthusiastically, "the teacher told us about Abraham Lincoln and his son Isaac!"

NOTICE TO HEATING CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the Glendale City School District of the County of Los Angeles, California, will receive bids on or before Tuesday, September 25th, 1923, at 7:30 P. M., at Board of Education rooms, 107½ South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, California, at which time and place said bids will be opened and read in public; for furnishing all required labor and material for the construction, erection and completion of Gas Steam Radiator Heating System for eight class rooms, library room, office and rest room of the present frame Cerritos Avenue School Building located on Cerritos Avenue between Brand Boulevard and Glendale Avenue, Glendale, California, in accordance with specifications prepared therefor by Alfred F. Priest, Architect.

Cashier's or certified check, or bidder's bond issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education, for an amount not less than five (5) per cent of the amount of bid shall accompany each proposal, drawn payable to the order of Board of Education of the Glendale City School District, as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested so to do by the Board of Education.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish two bonds of a surety company satisfactory to said Board of Education covering an amount equal to seventy-five (75) per cent of the contract price.

All bids must be made out on forms furnished by said architect.

Specifications for all the above work may be seen at the office of the architect, 716-719 Fay Building, Los Angeles, and at the office of the Board of Education.

A deposit of $10.00 will be required from all contractors receiving specifications, said deposit to be refunded to bidders when specifications are returned in good condition.

Said Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informality on any bid received.

The successful contractor shall be required to file with the Secretary of the Board of Education, a letter from a general agent of some approved insurance company stating that he had obtained unlimited compensation insurance to fully cover all men under his employ during the erection of this building.

By order of the Board of Education of the Glendale City School District.

D. J. HIBBEN,
President of said Board.
NETTIE C. BROWN,
Secretary of said Board.
Dated at Glendale, California, September 4, 1923.

AT THE THEATERS

BUSTER KEATON IS AT HIS BEST IN "THREE AGES"

In "Three Ages," Buster Keaton's latest comedy thriller, there is a real cast, with artists of international reputation support the star; elaborate sets, some of them the largest ever erected for a comedy and comparing favorably with any ever built for motion picture production, a real plot, a good story and great accuracy of detail stamp "Three Ages" as a new departure in strictly comedy productions.

Through "Three Ages" Buster demonstrates the various methods by which a fair young damsel's heart may be captured.

In the Stone Age—Buster proposes with a club.

In the Roman Age—He does a Ben Hur and plays tag with the lions.

In the Modern Age—When the divorce courts are running in three shifts daily—Well, you simply can't knock the romance out of him.

SOCIAL NEWS RELAYED FROM ARCTIC CIRCLE

[By Associated Press]

NARVIK, Norway, Sept. 18.—Never ask a Laplander how many reindeer he owns, is the initial bit of advice which Dr. W. H. Gantt of Baltimore has to offer travelers who wander off the beaten path and invade the primitive territory occupied by the Laplanders. This question is equal to asking an American the size of his salary, or the extent of his holdings in stocks and bonds. Riches with the Laps are measured in reindeer. Some few of them, the Henry Fords of the Arctic circle, have as many as 3,000 animals, but they dislike talking about their wealth.

Sweden has protected the Laps against invasion and exempted them from taxation, so they are able to carry on their life in Northern Sweden much as their ancestors did centuries ago. Their villages are extremely primitive and mobile. Families follow their flocks into the mountains in the summer and wander again into the low-lands in the winter.

One elderly Laplander told Dr. Gantt with great pride that he has a son living in America who recently eloped with an extremely wealthy girl and married her. The young Laplander was serving as chauffeur when he and his employer's daughter became enamored of each other and found an accommodating justice of the peace before the angry father caught up with them.

FILM THRILLER'S LAST SHOWINGS AT T. D. & L. TODAY

Rupert of Hentzau, the photo-dramatic sensation of the year, which has its last showings at the T., D. & L. Theater today, is hailed as a hurricane of thrills and moments of suspense. The story in itself is a thrill a minute, but in the screen adaptation the imagination does not have to be stretched at any time as the wonderful portrayal of the principals leaves nothing to be desired from a thrill viewpoint.

The most wonderful cast ever assembled for any single production were given the principal roles. The public have become so fed-up that they could hardly be blamed for being skeptical every time they hear the word used, but a very pleasant surprise awaits them in Rupert of Hentzau as each of the principals have actually been starred in numerous productions. Included in this galazy of stars are Elaine Hammerstein, Bert Lytell, Lew Cody, Claire Windsor, Hobart Bosworth, Bryant Washburn, Marjorie Daw and a number of others who have already endeared themselves to the picture-loving public.

The winter girl cuts a figure on the ice, but the summer girl must have a figure of her own to cut any ice on the beach

SITUATIONS THAT THRILL IN PLAY AT THE GATEWAY

"Relentlessly memory pursued Ellen and her thoughts whirled and emotion conquered her. At last she quivered up to her knees as if lashed to action. It seemed that first kiss of Isbel's(cool and gentle and timid, was on her lips. Then hard and violent on her mouth and cheek and neck burned those other kisses of Isbel's, and with the flashing, stinging memory came the truth that now she would have bartered her soul for them. Utterly she surrendered to the resistlessness of this love. Ellen wiped the tears from her eyes, and as she knelt there she swept to her breast a fragrant spreading bough of pine needles. I'll go to him," she whispered. I'll tell him of—of my—my love. I'll tell him to take me away—away to the end of the world—away from here—before it's too late"

This is one of the many tense, dramatic situations in "To the Last Man," which has last showings at the Gateway Theater today, with Lois Wilson, Richard Dix, Noah Beery, Frank Campeau and Robert Edeson in the cast.

MANY ARMENIAN GIRLS RELEASED FROM HAREMS

Chaperoning 120 Armenian girls released from Arab harems in Syria during the Allied offensive in Asia Minor was only one of an infinite variety of tasks coming under the head of child care in wartime, and one of the most novel assignments that came within the experience of Mrs. Melville Chater, a European relief worker just back in this country, who recently told the story of her five years' stay in Turkey and Armenia to the American Child Health association, a national organization whose activities touch on all phases of child health care in this country and abroad.

The girls were freed by General Allenby's order during the British occupation, at the insistent appeal of Armenian parents whose daughters had been forcibly taken as Moslem wives. They were gathered in two houses arranged by Mrs. Chater for their care, and the only restraint put upon their freedom either to seek their parents or return of their own will to the harems from which they had come, was that they give the authorities one week's time in which to communicate with their relatives. Of the one hundred and twenty girls, only four preferred to return to their Arab husbands.

Another of Mr. Chater's unusual undertakihgs was a day nursery in Constantinople for babies of refugee widows who were going out to work, leaving their children in the care of friends and neighbors. It was found that these children were not being brought to the dispensaries, and were generally getting the short end of an already meager family loaf in point of health and sanitary care. When the Armenian patriarch gave Mrs. Chater a large room and kitchen in the church buildings, and the nursery opened with its first five babies, it roused a stir of interest in the camp, and fathers and mothers of the community generally—Turks, Greeks, Jews, Armenians, and all the rest—flocked to see it.

Mrs. Chater went out from Paris just after the armistice as an American Red Cross worker to supervise child care work in an orphanage for refugee children in Aleppo. At the time of her departure, relief plans were centered on getting the 100,000 Armenian orphans massed in the Constantinople area into Athens. There were also 30,000 Armenian orphans from the Caucasus in Alexandropole.

Speaking of women, atractive simpletons are more popular with men than intellectual bores.
